

Flowchart for Exchange Central and RealTime service

RealTime information is necessary to make the right decisions on everyday matters in order to meet the market demands of today.

To provide RealTime information to our Exchange Central, the leading Team calendar in the marketplace, we have developed this 'high speed' automatic update procedure which runs on the NT server.

When using RealTime Service, no user ever has to worry about critical information being out of date.

Exchange Central without RealTime Service

Exchange Central with RealTime Service

